

Health and Safety

SUEZ provides waste, resource recovery and water management solutions across Australia and New Zealand that maintain, optimise and secure the resources essential to our future.

Health and safety is a core value at SUEZ and this is reflected in the way we do business. We are committed to provide a work environment free of injury and illness to all our workers including employees, contractors, owner drivers, labour hire and our visitors.

To achieve this, we are committed to:

- Identifying and complying with all relevant health and safety legislation, codes of practice, industry and stakeholder requirements and certifications
- Proactively identifying, eliminating, controlling and reducing the risk of hazards including those associated with Major Hazard Facilities
- Promoting a strong culture of health and safety awareness and eliminating hazardous work practices and behaviours that may cause harm
- Providing strong, accountable health and safety leadership throughout the business and upholding everyone's responsibilities to health and safety
- Providing a safe and healthy work environment, using safe work practices and necessary safety equipment. No one is expected to carry out any activity that they reasonably believe to be unsafe
- Adopting best practice for health and safety management by implementing and maintaining an effective health and safety management system
- Establishing, monitoring and reporting our performance through measurable objectives and targets
- Providing appropriate training, competency, information and supervision to our workers
- Encouraging co-operation and engagement by consulting with workers on health and safety matters
- Ensuring adequate resources are in place to implement this policy
- Building relationships with business partners who aspire to the same health and safety standards

Ensuring the health and safety of all SUEZ workers is the highest priority of all business objectives at SUEZ and must never be compromised to achieve other business goals.

Every day, in everything we do, we will keep health and safety foremost in our minds. Every person working at SUEZ is responsible for ensuring safe work practices at all times. Excellence in health and safety is achieved by the active participation and co-operations of everyone at SUEZ.
