

Health and Safety

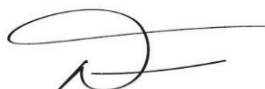

Suez are committed to provide a safe and healthy work environment through the prevention of work-related injury and ill-health to our people including employees, contractors, owner drivers, labour hire and visitors. We empower our people with information to actively reduce risk.

To achieve this, Suez are committed to:

- Identifying and complying with all legal and other regulatory requirements, health and safety legislation, codes of practice, company policies, standards and procedures, industry and stakeholder requirements
- Proactively eliminate hazards and reduce OHS risks, including those associated with Major Hazard Facilities
- Promoting a positive culture of health and safety through effective leadership, consultation and participation to eliminate hazardous work practices and behaviours that may cause harm
- Providing strong, accountable visible safety leadership throughout the business and upholding everyone's responsibilities and accountabilities to health and safety
- Providing a safe and healthy work environment through the implementation of safe work practices and necessary safety equipment.
- Adopting best practice for health and safety management through the continual improvement of our health and safety management system
- Measuring, monitoring and reporting our performance through quantifiable objectives and targets
- Providing appropriate training, competency, information, instruction and supervision to our workers
- Encouraging co-operation and engagement through communication and participation of workers, and, where they exist, workers' representatives on all health and safety matters
- Ensuring adequate resources are in place to communicate and implement this policy
- Building relationships with business partners who aspire to the same health and safety standards

Ensuring the health and safety of all SUEZ workers is the highest priority of all business objectives at SUEZ and must never be compromised to achieve other business goals.

Every day, in everything we do, we will keep health and safety foremost in our minds. Every person working at SUEZ is responsible for ensuring safe work practices at all times. Excellence in health and safety is achieved by the active participation and co-operations of everyone at SUEZ.
